ALL SCIENCE JOURNAL CLASSIFICATION (ASJC) CODES & QS WORLD UNIVERSITY (WUR) RANKINGS BY SUBJECT

ASJC (All Science Journal Classification) codes are used in Scopus to classify and categorize published research by its subject area. This is done using the aims and scope of the title (e.g. journal), and the content that it publishes.

This document serve as a guideline for researchers to publish in journals with more targeted ASJC codes. This could create higher citations with higher impact journals and contribute to Citation per Faculty metrics.

How does it works?

All journals and publications indexed in Scopus are assigned to one or more ASJC (All Science Journal Classification) Code by Scopus. QS utilises these codes for Faculty Area Normalization, paper-level unbundling, and affiliation capping processes in the calculation of the Citations per Faculty (20%) and International Research Network (5%) indicators for the main QS World University Rankings (QS WUR).

For instance, if a researcher publishes in a journal tagged with ASJC code 3310 (Linguistics and Language), QS automatically funnels that paper (and all the citations it receives) into the university's score for the QS Subject: Linguistics, which falls under the QS Broad Area: Arts & Humanities.

Full list of Scopus Journals with ASJC Code can be found in the Scopus Website: Scopus > Sources > Download Scopus Source List
